CLASSROOM SPOTLIGHT: MISS WEST, 5TH GRADE

The fifth graders are off to a great start this year! It has been an enjoyable year in Ms. West’s fifth grade class thus far. We are halfway through the 1st quarter and are making steady progress. The fifth graders have just completed their fall MAP test in reading, math, and science. In reading, our focus has been on story structure and identifying characters’ motives in the stories each week. In math, we are diving into long division and staying afloat. As scientists, we are reviewing the scientific method and working on experiments. In social studies, we started at the very beginning of the history of our great nation. Our writing community is full of fantastic writers. We are off and running to a superb school year and it is just the beginning!
