CLASSROOM SPOTLIGHT:
Mrs. Lewis ~ 4th grade

Greetings from 3rd Grade.

We have been very busy learning and growing. The students are very proud of the growth that they have shown. We have been reading wonderful books. The students have great discussions about the theme, characters, and author’s purpose for writing. The class loves the books with humor and do a terrific job of telling why the books are funny. This is high level thinking.

In math the students are very proud of learning to multiply and divide well. They love to show this new skill. We are currently working on fractions and soon will start to learn about shapes and geometry. One of our favorite activities is practicing math by playing games.

In science we covered life cycles. The students were very excited to see their seeds sprout and begin to grow. Early in the year we were able to study the life cycle of lady bugs and butterflies. We had them in our classroom and watched them grow. Did you know lady bugs start out as larva and have a pupa stage just like butterflies and flies do? We also have studied snow. The students were thrilled to catch and look at snowflakes with magnifying glasses. The 6 sided shapes are truly beautiful. We decorated with tissue paper snowflakes. Every year I love to see the students get excited about how creative they can be cutting shapes to make something lovely.

In Social Studies we will be studying Omaha. We have done a little on history. Some of the students were shocked to learn about how new computer and telephone technology are. We did a time line of inventions and learned about how parents and grandparents would have communicated, looked for information, and enjoyed music and television.

We still have so much to learn and look forward to working hard and making more discoveries.
