CLASSROOM SPOTLIGHT: Miss Miranda ~ Kindergarten

The kindergarteners in Room 137 are rocking it in 2020! January has been a wonderful month for Ms. Miranda’s class. Since returning from winter break, our class has been reviewing our school rules and expectations each day to prepare for success at Boyd and beyond. Our class discusses, practices, and celebrates being safe, responsible, respectful, cooperative, and honest each day!

Our kindergarten class has loved diving into informational texts in reading! Recently we have loved reading and learning about science, bugs, and Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. These texts have helped us to retell main ideas, practice making connections to the world and to our own lives, and identifying the author’s purpose.

In writing, kindergarteners have been challenged to tell more in their newest writing unit. Our amazing authors are continuing to write personal narratives, but we are stretching our brains by revisiting our drawings and writing to add more! In addition, our writing is maturing, and we are remembering to use proper capitalization, spacing, and punctuation in our sentences.

Subtraction has proved to be no challenge for these determined kindergarteners! We have been working hard using cubes, counters, fingers, and drawings to learn about subtraction. Our class has also been enjoying math talks and engaging in conversations with each other about math. Our brains are growing every day, and we are so proud of our progress this year in kindergarten!

Warm Heart Wednesday!

Student: Raiden Downie & Laphi Evans

Nominated by: Mrs. Vavra

While making snowflakes for the winter program, Raiden and Laphi saw a friend who really needed help. They didn't hesitate and jumped right in and started helping their friend make as many snowflake "branches" as they could. Through their actions Raiden and Laphi showed us how to use our hands and words for helping.
